

GET TO KNOW MARYBETH MORRISSEY

Mary Beth Morrissey is the Queen Bee at Capture Photography in the picturesque town of Essex, CT. She digs shooting funky and lovable couples who appreciate sarcasm and good beer. She also takes serious pride in producing once-in-a-lifetime bodacious boudoir photographs for extraordinary women with a story. She's a travel junkie who loves to meet strangers. She's a hair color aficionado and a culinary idiot. Beyond all the artsy awards that have come her way, her number one prize is her French bulldog Pixel.

Mary Beth travels across the country where she speaks and inspires groups of people – including photographers, brides and small business owners. Her favorite method of inspiration is questioning the excuses and the fears that lie within all of us. She loves sharing her favorite tools on how to kick some serious ass, break rules and take names- all while gaining a better understanding of yourself and nurturing your creative passion to move past any and all barriers.
